

A Treatise on Cyder Making

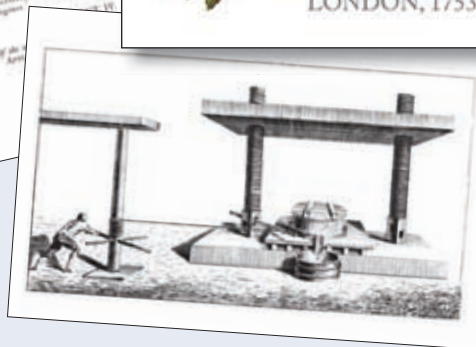

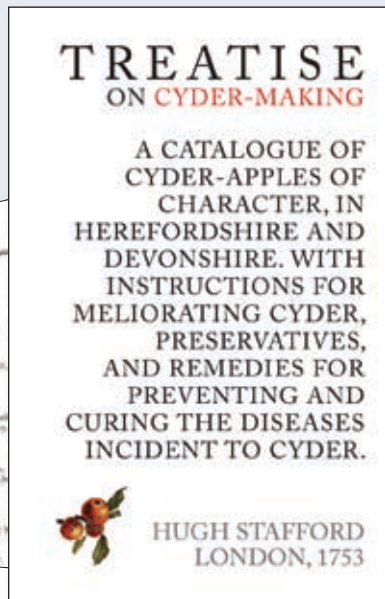

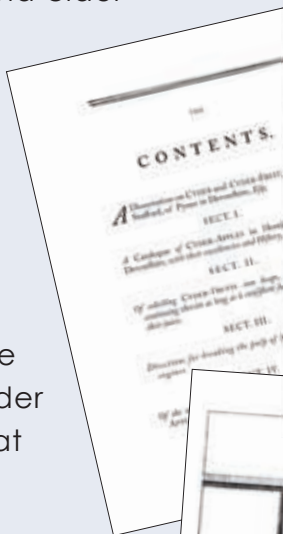

By Hugh Stafford • First published 1753

Fineleaf facsimile edition

Published more than 250 years ago, this is a facsimile edition of one of the earliest guides to apple growing and cider making.

In addition to describing the wide variety of cider apples then grown, and their cultivation, the author discussed the various stages of cider making in use at that time.

This facsimile edition includes a new index.

ISBN: 978-0-9557577-1-6

90 pages 138 mm x 216 mm Price £7.95